

BIZBEAT

Maryland e-health company lands Swedish government contract

Nov 19, 2015, 10:50am EST

INDUSTRIES & TAGS Technology

Rockville-based health IT company Get Real Health will soon provide managed personal health data access to patients across Sweden with its latest contract win.

Get Real Health is partnering with Capgemini Sverige AB to bring its patient engagement products to Sweden's publicly owned Swedish eHealth Agency.

Rockville-based health IT company Get Real Health just announced a contract to provide... more

NASTCO/THINKSTOCK

The contract's value was not disclosed.

Capgemini will run the service – called HälsaFörMig – while Get Real Health's InstantPHR and Connected Health Base provide the data platform for consumers. Swedish consumers will be able to view, collect and store personal health data on the platform – more easily and securely access health records from multiple parties and, for example, connect it with wearable device data to be more engaged in their own health.

Get Real Health President Robin Wiener applauded the Swedish government for its "forward-thinking."